

1 New Continued Harassment from Bryn Wilson

Despite my telling Bryn that I didn't want to get him kicked out, and had already reported him to the police (on 27th December) he has continued to harass and harangue me and steal or damage my property.

He has dared me several times to "try and get him kicked out" with a protection order.

I have resisted, but I am bored of being accepting and trying not to react.

He (or his friend who has been banned from the site but still stays there) flooded the bathroom this week, letting sewage water flow out of the bathroom and under my door, damaging more of my property.

Didn't bother to knock on my door and tell me, so I could have prevented some of the damage, or make any attempt to mop the hall, just stopped the water from going under his own door.

2 Stolen/Vandalised Walkers

He also removed bolts from my walker today, after I had the temerity to ask him a question about why he said nothing when someone else was going through my car.

I have had to buy three second-hand walkers just this month. One of them was in pieces, had to use pram wheels.

He probably did talk to them, and offered to say nothing, for a price.

He does know the two people 'sleeping' in their car, next to mine.

This "Franken-walker" is obviously crappy and homemade, and less saleable, so there was little point Bryn stealing it, so just removed the adjustable knob bolts.
